

FAQ-External

The MENTOR Network is becoming Sevita.™ You may have questions about who Sevita is and what this transition means. Here's some information to get started. We'll continue sharing updates and resources as the brand rolls out.

Is Sevita a new company?

No. Sevita is a change in trade name for The MENTOR Network. We are the same company with the same mission — to offer adults, children, and their families innovative, quality services and supports that lead to growth and independence, regardless of the physical, intellectual or behavioral challenges they face.

Why Sevita?

Helping people grow and progress is at the heart of everything we do. Our new brand celebrates life, growth, and independence. It comes from ser which means to be and vita which means life. And that's what we're about — life and helping people live well.

Why is your name changing?

Our story has centered around our belief that everyone deserves to live a full, independent life. The best place to do this is at home and in the community. That was a revolutionary idea when we started more than 50 years ago. At the time, many people with disabilities lived in institutions. We believed there was a better way and helped lead change and improve how services were provided.

Now, it's time to take the next step — to lead the way and continue to innovate to help people live well. That starts with evolving together as a unified company under one name. Sevita will help us tell our story, strengthening our ability to make a positive impact for the people we serve, and unite together as team members.

What does this mean for the individuals you serve?

The individuals we serve will experience a continuity of care throughout our transition to Sevita. There will be no delays or disruptions to the services they receive. This means confidence and peace of mind for the individuals we serve and their loved ones.

Where can I learn more about Sevita?

To learn more about our transition to Sevita, please visit our website, SevitaHealth.com, or email connect@sevitahealth.com.